Daughters Forever, Sons Forever

A must read survival kit for parents and their teens

ST. PAUL, MN —September 6, 2010 A column titled ‘Forever’ Program Prepares High School Seniors for Future asked parents how well prepared will their high school students be as they move on in the world without a peanut butter sandwich carefully prepared and wrapped, their orange divided into neat sections and milk money taped to their book bags? More importantly how prepared will they be to meet young people in college with different values and morals, to say no to new temptations? Would they still roll out of bed to attend Mass on Sunday if their father didn’t threaten them....”

While this article was written nearly 9 years ago, these same concerns still register with many parents. More recently many have been asking similar questions. Consider the amount of coverage given to the Britney Spears’ problems and Gov. Palin’s eldest daughter’s pregnancy and parenting choices. The question on many adults’ minds is this: what are the parents teaching teens about sexuality?

Truth be told, too many parents don’t know where, when, or how to start these discussions. Fortifying Families of Faith can help parents.

Daughters Forever, Sons Forever provides the tool by which parents’ hesitancy to discuss health/sexuality issues with their teens is overcome. The Daughters Forever, Sons Forever curriculum includes a book, a workbook, an audio or video program that cover key topics. This new curriculum is a quality resource that can be used today to start connecting with teens.
